

COLECO CORPORATE CENTER

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
November 12, 1984

CONTACT:
Barbara Wruck, Director or
Donna Wolf, Coordinator
Corporate Communications
Coleco Industries, Inc.
(203) 725-6660

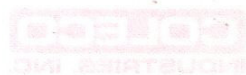

COLECO SHIPS SOFTWARE FOR
COMMODORE^R 64TM AND ATARI^R COMPUTERS

West Hartford, CT -- Coleco has released "War Games," one of its most popular entertainment software titles, in a double-sided disk format for use with either the Commodore^R 64TM or Atari^R Computers. Previously, "War Games" has been available for Coleco's ADAM Family Computer System and the ColecoVision Video Game System in ROM cartridge form.

Just as in the hit MGM/UA movie War Games, the user has tapped into "Joshua," the mighty WOPR computer, which promptly challenges him to an all-out thermonuclear war. Acting as the commander of NORAD, the player must monitor six sector maps and direct the country's defense system using submarines, anti-ballistic missiles, Interceptor jet patrols and killer satellites. This challenging strategy game requires a quick eye and sharp decision-making skills to avoid the outbreak of World War III!

- more -

999 Quaker Lane South, West Hartford, CT 06110 (203) 725-6000

In recent months, Coleco has shipped a wide variety of software titles for the Company's ADAM Family Computer System in the four categories of family learning, home information management, entertainment and languages and programming aids and will continue to add to its ever-growing library in the coming months.

Coleco has also shipped a variety of hardware peripherals for the ADAM Family Computer System, including the 5 1/4" disk drive, the ADAMLink direct connect modem, the second digital data drive, and the 64K RAM memory expander. These hardware peripherals increase the versatility of the ADAM Family Computer System. They are all easily installed, practical and affordable.

#####